This series provides a specialized forum through which the extraordinary site of Jerash (Jordan) can be presented to a wider audience, and its importance traced through historical and archaeological material from prehistoric up to modern times. Volumes published within the series are encouraged to cross disciplinary and chronological boundaries, to transcend traditional views, definitions, and presumptions, and in doing so, to shed new light on our understanding of the ancient world.
Revisiting the Religious Life of Palmyra
Rubina Raja (ed.)

The first volume ever bringing together the core group of scholars who have worked on religion and religious practice in Palmyra; a vital update to our understanding of how people lived and worshipped in this city, which remains crucial to the broader understanding of the role of religion and religious practices in urban contexts in antiquity.

Contextualizing the Sacred in the Hellenistic and Roman Near East
Religious Identities in Local, Regional, and Imperial Settings
Rubina Raja (ed.)

This volume brings together contributions by leading scholars working on religious identity and religion in the Hellenistic and Roman periods in the Roman Near East. Their contributions draw upon a wide range of empirical evidence, from epigraphical material to literary and archaeological sources.

Zerstörte Architektur bei Pausanias
Phänomenologie, Funktionen und Verhältnis zum zeitgenössischen Ruindiskurs
Julian Schreyer

Die Untersuchung stellt sich die Frage, weshalb die ‘Periegesis Hellados’ des Pausanias aus dem 2. Jahrhundert n. Chr. so häufig Siedlungen und Gebäude im Zustand der Zerstörung thematisiert.

Visual Histories of the Classical World
Essays in Honour of R.R.R. Smith
Catherine M. Draycott, Rubina Raja, Katherine Welch, William T. Wootten (eds)

The papers gathered here consider various aspects of art and architecture in the classical world, engaging directly with R.R.R. Smith’s own research, and at the same time celebrating his enormous contribution to scholarship.

Burial assemblages from Bab el-Gasus in the Geographical Society of Lisbon
Rogério Sousa

The objects published in this book belong to the Eighth Lot of antiquities found in Bab el-Gasus, the collective tomb of the priests and priestesses of Amun (Theban necropolis, 21st Dynasty), currently kept at the Geographical Society of Lisbon. In this undisturbed tomb – the largest ever found in Egypt – 153 burial assemblages were uncovered.

New Cities in Late Antiquity
Documents and Archaeology
E. Rizos (ed.)

This volume explores the application of late antique urban ideals ‘on virgin ground’. Based on recent archaeological fieldwork and synthetic studies, twenty papers outline the state of research and discuss the motives and products of city-building from the late third to the seventh centuries AD.
