Luxury and the Ethics of Greed in Early Modern Italy

Sarah Knight (ed.)

This book unravels the complex interaction of the paradigms of luxury and greed which lie at the origins of modern consumption practices. After defining luxury and greed in their historical contexts, the volume’s chapters elucidate new consumption forms, from chocolate to official robes of state; they examine how ideas about, and objects of luxury and greed were disseminated through print, diplomacy, and gift-giving; and they reveal how even the most elite of consumers could fake their luxury objects. A group of international scholars, from a range of disciplines, thereby provide a new appraisal and vision of luxury and the ethics of greed in early modern Italy.

Hardback: € 75 / $98.00
viii + 232 p., 6 b/w ills, 2 b/w tables, 156 x 234 mm, 2019

FORTHCOMING

Series: Studies in the History of Daily Life (800-1600), vol. 7

Subaltern City?
Alternative and peripheral Urban Spaces in the Pre-modern Period

Davey Mounjac, Peter Clark (eds)

The purpose of this volume is to question traditional notions of city space in pre-modern Europe and to investigate how far it was in fact economically and politically pluralistic, with a great variety of functions and jurisdictions. The volume examines comparatively the range of different urban spaces and outside the medieval and early modern city from gardens, farmland and wasteland to industrial sites, poor and rich suburbs, shooting grounds, green and grey spaces, and military zones.

Hardback: € 90 / $117.00
approx. 350 p., 13 b/w ills, 156 x 234 mm, 2019,

Series: Late Medieval and Early Modern Studies, vol. 27

Early modern Amsterdam was an ultra-modern city laid out conforming to the triple demand of functionality, beauty and profit: a city that takes a unique place in European urban history because of its location, design, and impressive scale. This book deals with the question how Amsterdam’s administration managed to realize these immense projects from the viewpoints of urban design, in particular, its logistics, and finance. The first part of this book is dedicated to the extension projects. A thorough analysis of all remaining cartographic documents has enabled the author to reconstruct the decision process about the scale, design, and realization of the extensions. The second part contains chapters concerning land use, public space and water management. Its broad approach of planning makes this a standard work on early modern urbanism.

Hardback: approx. € 125 / $163.00
Series: Architectural Crossroads, vol. 6

Netherlandish Culture of the Sixteenth Century

Urban Perspectives
Elsjo Mert-Kavasevic, Azra-Laura van Bronswijk (eds)

The authors of this volume present various fields of cultural discourse in the hitherto of the sixteenth century: the political, commercial, religious, artistic, and sensory domains, and less obviously metaphorical properties like time and space. What defined the Low Countries were not its borders and its territories but its cities, and their economies dominated political relations. Among the topics treated are differing notions of urban topography, the dialogue between city and court, issues of censorship, and the sensory and psychological response to texts and images.

Hardback: approx. € 125 / $163.00
February 2019
Series: Studies in European Urban History (1100-1800), vol. 41

Series: Studies in European Urban History (1100-1800), vol. 47

Paperback: € 81 / $105.00
ISBN 978-2-503-58331-0
274 p., 2 b/w ills, 4 col. ills, 178 x 254 mm, 2019,

Denis Menjot, Peter Clark (eds)

Alternative and peripheral Urban Spaces

Subaltern City?

Bram Caers, Lisa Demets, Tineke Van Gassen (eds)

The purpose of this volume is to question traditional notions of city space in pre-modern Europe and to investigate how far it was in fact economically and politically pluralistic, with a great variety of functions and jurisdictions. The volume examines comparatively the range of different urban spaces and outside the medieval and early modern city from gardens, farmland and wasteland to industrial sites, poor and rich suburbs, shooting grounds, green and grey spaces, and military zones.

Hardback: € 89,00 / $116.00
xxx + 305 p., 32 col. ills, 156 x 234 mm, 2019,

Series: Studies in European Urban History (1100-1800), vol. 45

The European Contexts of Ramism
Emma-Anneke Willems, Sarah Knight (eds)

This book embarks on a European tour of Ramism, using a wide range of previously unpublished or untranslated archival evidence from European tour of Ramism, systematically examining the disseminated works and his intellectual influence in the sixteenth century. This volume explores the historical contexts, the defining luxury and greed which lie at the origins of modern consumption practices. After defining luxury and greed in their historical contexts, the volume’s chapters elucidate new consumption forms, from chocolate to official robes of state; they examine how ideas about, and objects of luxury and greed were disseminated through print, diplomacy, and gift-giving; and they reveal how even the most elite of consumers could fake their luxury objects. A group of international scholars, from a range of disciplines, thereby provide a new appraisal and vision of luxury and the ethics of greed in early modern Italy.

Hardback: € 75 / $98.00
viii + 232 p., 6 b/w ills, 2 b/w tables, 156 x 234 mm, 2019

Series: Studies in the History of Daily Life (800-1600), vol. 7

The Matter of Honour
The Leading Urban Elite in Sixteenth-Century Transylvania

Agnes Flora

This monograph entails a comparative study of two early modern urban centers in Transylvania: Cluj (Kolozsvár, Klausenburg) and Sibiu (Nagyszeben, Hermannstadt). After an in-depth analysis of the Cluj and Sibiu cartographic materials, this book opens with a great variety of historical contexts, the defining luxury and greed which lie at the origins of modern consumption practices. After defining luxury and greed in their historical contexts, the volume’s chapters elucidate new consumption forms, from chocolate to official robes of state; they examine how ideas about, and objects of luxury and greed were disseminated through print, diplomacy, and gift-giving; and they reveal how even the most elite of consumers could fake their luxury objects. A group of international scholars, from a range of disciplines, thereby provide a new appraisal and vision of luxury and the ethics of greed in early modern Italy.

Hardback: € 75 / $98.00
viii + 232 p., 6 b/w ills, 2 b/w tables, 156 x 234 mm, 2019

Series: Studies in the History of Daily Life (800-1600), vol. 7

Urban History Writing in Northwest Europe (15th-16th centuries)

Bram Caers, Lisa Demets, Tineke Van Gassen (eds)

This volume aims at taking the first steps towards a revaluation of urban historiography in Northwest Europe, including rather than excluding texts that do not fit common definitions.

Hardback: € 89,00 / $116.00
xxx + 305 p., 32 col. ills, 156 x 234 mm, 2019

Series: Studies in European Urban History (1100-1800), vol. 45

The Leading Urban Elite in Sixteenth-Century Transylvania

Agnes Flora

This monograph entails a comparative study of two early modern urban centers in Transylvania: Cluj (Kolozsvár, Klausenburg) and Sibiu (Nagyszeben, Hermannstadt). After an in-depth analysis of the Cluj and Sibiu cartographic materials, this book opens with a great variety of historical contexts, the defining luxury and greed which lie at the origins of modern consumption practices. After defining luxury and greed in their historical contexts, the volume’s chapters elucidate new consumption forms, from chocolate to official robes of state; they examine how ideas about, and objects of luxury and greed were disseminated through print, diplomacy, and gift-giving; and they reveal how even the most elite of consumers could fake their luxury objects. A group of international scholars, from a range of disciplines, thereby provide a new appraisal and vision of luxury and the ethics of greed in early modern Italy.

Hardback: € 75 / $98.00
viii + 232 p., 6 b/w ills, 2 b/w tables, 156 x 234 mm, 2019

Series: Studies in the History of Daily Life (800-1600), vol. 7

The Matter of Honour
The Leading Urban Elite in Sixteenth-Century Transylvania

Agnes Flora

This monograph entails a comparative study of two early modern urban centers in Transylvania: Cluj (Kolozsvár, Klausenburg) and Sibiu (Nagyszeben, Hermannstadt). After an in-depth analysis of the Cluj and Sibiu cartographic materials, this book opens with a great variety of historical contexts, the defining luxury and greed which lie at the origins of modern consumption practices. After defining luxury and greed in their historical contexts, the volume’s chapters elucidate new consumption forms, from chocolate to official robes of state; they examine how ideas about, and objects of luxury and greed were disseminated through print, diplomacy, and gift-giving; and they reveal how even the most elite of consumers could fake their luxury objects. A group of international scholars, from a range of disciplines, thereby provide a new appraisal and vision of luxury and the ethics of greed in early modern Italy.

Hardback: € 75 / $98.00
viii + 232 p., 6 b/w ills, 2 b/w tables, 156 x 234 mm, 2019

Series: Studies in the History of Daily Life (800-1600), vol. 7
Borman: A Family of Northern Renaissance Sculptors
Marjon Debaane (ed.)

Borman was a virtuoso, a master but above all an innovator who influenced many other sculptors. This book gathers essays by leading academics and presents a summary catalogue of all works attributed to the Borman family.

Sublime Truth and the Senses
Tian’s Poesie for King Philip II of Spain
Marie Tanner

In this fascinating study, Paine Tanner examines Tian’s works, in which Tian incorporates new concepts of sensory and spirituality in the mythological paintings for King Philip II’s Spanish Philip’s Poesie.

Perfection
The Essence of Art and Architecture in Early Modern Europe
Lorenzo Perisco, Elisabetta Dozy-Martu (eds)

Whether a painting, a sculpture, or a building, works of art in early modern Europe must achieve the highest degree of perfection. If in the Middle Ages perfection is mostly perceived as a technical quality interest in craftsmanship—a quality that can be judged according to often unspoken criteria agreed upon by the members of a guild—then the fifteenth century onwards perfection comes to incorporate a set of moralistic and literary qualities originally extraneous to art making.

Imagery and Ingenuity in Early Modern Europe
Essays in Honor of Jeffrey Chipp Smith
Catherine Ingold, Alisa McCauley, Jessica Weise (eds)

This collection of essays brings together new scholarship on European imagery and ingenuity from the fifteenth to the seventeenth centuries by a range of artists. Topics include the training of artists and the practices of making, the communicative importance of particular images, monographs, and artistic processes; the shifting meanings of objects due to re-use; and the importance of location and tradition in the creation and reception of artworks. Imagery and Ingenuity is an innovative and instructive collection for students and scholars of Early Modern art.

Bergvall

Visual Typos in Early Modern Europe
Continuity and Expansion
Dagnor Elschlager, Shelley Perks (eds)

Visual Typos in early Modern Europe: Continuity and Expansion is the first study that examines the varied manifestations of typological thinking in diverse medical and visual arts from the late Middle Ages through the seventeenth century in Germany, Italy, The Netherlands, Italy, and France. This study reconstructs the underlying concept that typology was in decline or even ceased to exist in the sixteenth century. The study within this volume offers new interpretations that redefine what is meant by typological thinking in the early modern period.

Women and Fashion in Pre-Industrial Europe
Elle M. Derbourque (ed.)

This collection of essays compares and discusses women’s participation and experiences in credit transactions in early modern Europe, and highlights the characteristics, common narratives, similarities, discrepancies, and differences across various regions in Europe in different time periods, and at all levels of society.

The Puccci of Florence
Patronage and Politics in Renaissance Italy
Carla D’Arpita

The story of the Pucci family, one of the great patrons of Renaissance art and architecture.

Hearing the City in Early Modern Europe
Toine Knoopp, Alessandra Massullo-Anguita (eds)

Hearing the City: a major new contribution to the field of urban musicology in the early modern period with twenty-one essays by leading figures in the field from Europe, the USA, and Australia. The individual contributions explore themes related to the complex relationships between sound and space within the urban context and between social identity and civic authorities and draw on a wide range of sources from city pay documents and legislation to contemporaneous accounts, correspondences, travel writing, religious and moral tracts, legal writing and architectural legacy.

The Essence of Art and Architecture in Early Modern Europe
Lorenzo Perisco, Elisabetta Dozy-Martu (eds)

Visual Typos in early Modern Europe: Continuity and Expansion
Dagnor Elschlager, Shelley Perks (eds)

Women and Fashion in Pre-Industrial Europe
Elle M. Derbourque (ed.)

This collection of essays compares and discusses women’s participation and experiences in credit transactions in early modern Europe, and highlights the characteristics, common narratives, similarities, discrepancies, and differences across various regions in Europe in different time periods, and at all levels of society.

Sergio DiPirro (ed.)

This book is about the development of optics and perspective between the fifteenth and seventeenth centuries.

The Essence of Art and Architecture in Early Modern Europe
Lorenzo Perisco, Elisabetta Dozy-Martu (eds)

Visual Typos in early Modern Europe: Continuity and Expansion
Dagnor Elschlager, Shelley Perks (eds)

Women and Fashion in Pre-Industrial Europe
Elle M. Derbourque (ed.)

This collection of essays compares and discusses women’s participation and experiences in credit transactions in early modern Europe, and highlights the characteristics, common narratives, similarities, discrepancies, and differences across various regions in Europe in different time periods, and at all levels of society.

Sergio DiPirro (ed.)

This book is about the development of optics and perspective between the fifteenth and seventeenth centuries.

The Essence of Art and Architecture in Early Modern Europe
Lorenzo Perisco, Elisabetta Dozy-Martu (eds)

Visual Typos in early Modern Europe: Continuity and Expansion
Dagnor Elschlager, Shelley Perks (eds)

Women and Fashion in Pre-Industrial Europe
Elle M. Derbourque (ed.)

This collection of essays compares and discusses women’s participation and experiences in credit transactions in early modern Europe, and highlights the characteristics, common narratives, similarities, discrepancies, and differences across various regions in Europe in different time periods, and at all levels of society.

Sergio DiPirro (ed.)

This book is about the development of optics and perspective between the fifteenth and seventeenth centuries.

The Essence of Art and Architecture in Early Modern Europe
Lorenzo Perisco, Elisabetta Dozy-Martu (eds)

Visual Typos in early Modern Europe: Continuity and Expansion
Dagnor Elschlager, Shelley Perks (eds)

Women and Fashion in Pre-Industrial Europe
Elle M. Derbourque (ed.)

This collection of essays compares and discusses women’s participation and experiences in credit transactions in early modern Europe, and highlights the characteristics, common narratives, similarities, discrepancies, and differences across various regions in Europe in different time periods, and at all levels of society.

Sergio DiPirro (ed.)

This book is about the development of optics and perspective between the fifteenth and seventeenth centuries.

The Essence of Art and Architecture in Early Modern Europe
Lorenzo Perisco, Elisabetta Dozy-Martu (eds)

Visual Typos in early Modern Europe: Continuity and Expansion
Dagnor Elschlager, Shelley Perks (eds)

Women and Fashion in Pre-Industrial Europe
Elle M. Derbourque (ed.)

This collection of essays compares and discusses women’s participation and experiences in credit transactions in early modern Europe, and highlights the characteristics, common narratives, similarities, discrepancies, and differences across various regions in Europe in different time periods, and at all levels of society.

Sergio DiPirro (ed.)

This book is about the development of optics and perspective between the fifteenth and seventeenth centuries.

The Essence of Art and Architecture in Early Modern Europe
Lorenzo Perisco, Elisabetta Dozy-Martu (eds)

Visual Typos in early Modern Europe: Continuity and Expansion
Dagnor Elschlager, Shelley Perks (eds)

Women and Fashion in Pre-Industrial Europe
Elle M. Derbourque (ed.)

This collection of essays compares and discusses women’s participation and experiences in credit transactions in early modern Europe, and highlights the characteristics, common narratives, similarities, discrepancies, and differences across various regions in Europe in different time periods, and at all levels of society.

Sergio DiPirro (ed.)

This book is about the development of optics and perspective between the fifteenth and seventeenth centuries.

The Essence of Art and Architecture in Early Modern Europe
Lorenzo Perisco, Elisabetta Dozy-Martu (eds)

Visual Typos in early Modern Europe: Continuity and Expansion
Dagnor Elschlager, Shelley Perks (eds)

Women and Fashion in Pre-Industrial Europe
Elle M. Derbourque (ed.)

This collection of essays compares and discusses women’s participation and experiences in credit transactions in early modern Europe, and highlights the characteristics, common narratives, similarities, discrepancies, and differences across various regions in Europe in different time periods, and at all levels of society.

Sergio DiPirro (ed.)

This book is about the development of optics and perspective between the fifteenth and seventeenth centuries.