

The North Atlantic World

Land and Sea as Cultural Space, AD 400-1900

This series focuses on the cultural heritage of the North Atlantic World between c. AD 400 and c. 1900. Covering a geographical region that stretches from Northern Europe and Scandinavia across to the Eastern seabords of Canada and the United States of America, and a timeframe that expands from the Late Iron Age up to the early modern period, the boundaries of this series are set deliberately broad in order to inspire research that spans geographical and chronological divisions and that seeks to compare and contrast elements of the North Atlantic World. It is envisaged that the series will provide a forum for comparative and interdisciplinary research from a variety of fields, in particular archaeology, history, literature, languages, and folklore, and indications of interest for monographs and edited collections are invited.

Method of peer review: Single-blind undertaken by a member of the Editorial Board or an external specialist

Fields of interest: Historical, cultural, and religious studies, including areas such as art history, philosophy, archaeology, anthropology, and social sciences

Geographical scope: Scandinavian and Baltic lands

Chronological scope: 400-1500 AD/CE

General Editors

Alexandra Sanmark, University of Highlands and Islands
alexandra.sanmark@uhi.ac.uk

Publishing Manager

Rosie Bonté
rosie.bonte@brepols.net

Editorial Board

Kevin EDWARDS, University of Aberdeen
Donna HEDDLE, University of Highlands and Islands
Andrew JENNINGS, University of Highlands and Islands
Natascha MEHLER, German Maritime Museum

Submissions

This series warmly welcomes volume proposals for both monographs and thematically coherent essay collections.
Main Language(s) accepted: English

Author Information

Brepols Publishers' general guidelines in English and a proposal form for authors and editors are available at:
<http://www.brepols.net/Pages/Getfile.aspx?dfile=88>

All volumes in this series are evaluated by an Editorial Board, strictly on academic grounds, based on reports prepared by referees who have been commissioned by virtue of their specialism in the appropriate field. The Board ensures that the screening is done independently and without conflicts of interest. The definitive texts supplied by authors are also subject to review by the Board before being approved for publication.

Why Publish with Brepols?

- Authors work closely with, and benefit from, the expertise of the Editorial Board.
- Comprehensive peer review ensures books published with Brepols have a reputation for high-quality scholarship.
- Continuity of care — authors work with the same publishing manager throughout the publication process.
- We offer comprehensive copyediting by experienced editors with a background in archaeology and history.
- All volumes published with Brepols are distributed and marketed worldwide.