

Medieval and Early Modern Europe and the World

A focus on Europe — and in particular the cultural sphere of ‘Western Christendom’— has long been central to research into social and political developments and their intellectual traditions in the medieval and early modern periods. In recent years, however, as part of a move to ‘deprovincialize’ Europe, increasing attention has been paid to interactions along the European periphery, as well as to broader encounters between Europe and the non-Western world. This series builds on this trend by providing a forum for innovative scholarship that challenges traditional narratives. It opens up new areas of debate by exploring intercultural dialogue and the impact of cross-cultural contacts between medieval and early modern European and non-Western societies. The series invites both monographs and thematic collections from scholars across a wide range of disciplines, including political, social, cultural, and intellectual history; literature; anthropology; philosophy; religious studies; art history; and historiography.

Method of peer review— Single-blind undertaken by a member of the Editorial Board or an external specialist

Fields of interest— Political, social, cultural, and intellectual history, cross-cultural encounters, travel literature, inter-religious contacts

Geographical scope— Europe; Islamic World; Byzantine Empire; East Asia; New World

Chronological scope— 600–1800 AD/CE

General Editor

Vasileios Syros, The Medici Archive Project
syros@medici.org

Editorial Board

Stella ACHILLEOS, University of Cyprus
Ovanes AKOPYAN, University of Innsbruck
Alessio ASSONITIS, The Medici Archive Project
Ivana ČAPETA RAKIĆ, University of Split
Hui-Hung CHEN, National Taiwan University
Emir O. FILIPOVIĆ, University of Sarajevo
Alison FRAZIER, The University of Texas at Austin
Nadejda SELUNSKAYA, Institute of World History, Russian Academy of Sciences
Claude STUCZYNSKI, Bar-Ilan University
Angeliki ZIACA, Aristotle University of Thessaloniki

Publishing Manager

Rosie Bonté
rosie.bonte@brepols.net

SUBMISSIONS

This series warmly welcomes volume proposals for both monographs and thematically coherent essay collections.

Main language accepted: English | Additional languages: French, German, Italian, Spanish

Author Information

Brepols Publishers' general guidelines in English and a proposal form for authors and editors are available at <http://www.brepols.net/Pages/Getfile.aspx?dlfi=88>.

All volumes in this series are evaluated by an Editorial Board, strictly on academic grounds, based on reports prepared by referees who have been commissioned by virtue of their specialism in the appropriate field. The Board ensures that the screening is done independently and without conflicts of interest. The definitive texts supplied by authors are also subject to review by the Board before being approved for publication.

Why Publish with Brepols?

- Authors work closely with, and benefit from, the expertise of the Editorial Board.
- Comprehensive peer review ensures books published with Brepols have a reputation for high-quality scholarship.
- Continuity of care — authors work with the same publishing manager throughout the publication process.
- We offer comprehensive copyediting by experienced editors with a background in archaeology and history.
- All volumes published with Brepols are distributed and marketed worldwide.