

NEW BOOK SERIES

EASTERN CHRISTIAN CULTURES IN CONTACT

Christ and Abbot Menas icon, Louvre, Paris

The series consists of monographs, collected volumes, as well as original texts and translations of sources whose primary focus is contact or ongoing interactions between Eastern Christian communities from the age of Patristics down to the late Ottoman Empire. The series will focus on Syriac, Armenian, Georgian, Arabic, Coptic, Nubian and Ethiopic Christians. Contacts between these communities are severely understudied in favour of their interactions with the Greek and Latin churches, which are frequently presented in terms of influence and reception within a Roman- or Constantinople-centered perspective. Yet, throughout centuries Eastern Christian communities enriched each other through multi-layered interactions that could also be a result of their opposition to these so-called imperial (in the case of Eastern Roman) and centralized (in the case of the Catholic) churches. Furthermore, academic publications on Eastern Christianities often address each highly sophisticated and specialized field with a small audience of scholars separately, rather than in conversation with each other.

This new series, on the one hand, will take us beyond both Byzantino-centric paradigms, serving as a corrective to any binary and limited views and, on the other, will emphasise the existence of polycentric Christianities in on-going and centuries-long interactions with each other. The publications should explore evidence for entanglements in terms of literary contacts, such as in hagiographical and polemical texts, translations between and among the relevant languages, circulation of texts, topoi, themes and/or persons across languages, as well as aspects of material culture, such as artistic and architectural exchanges or archeological evidence. The series, thus, will fill a gap in targeting and encouraging publications in an innovative field of research, which is not covered by any available academic series.

Method of peer review

Double-blind undertaken by a specialist member of the Board or an external specialist.

Fields of interest

Eastern Christianity, philology, Patristics, cultural and linguistic interaction, intellectual history, art history, material culture

Publishing Manager

Jirki Thibaut

jirki.thibaut@brepols.net

General editors

Andy Hilkens, Goethe-Universität Frankfurt

andy.hilkens@ugent.be

Zaroui Pogossian, Università degli studi di Firenze

zaroui.pogossian@unifi.it

Barbara Roggema, Ruhr University Bochum

barbara.roggema@rub.de

Geographical scope

The Eastern Mediterranean, the Caucasus, the Middle East, Central Asia, India and (Northern-Eastern) Africa

Chronological scope

200-1800

Editorial Board

Marco Bais, Pontifical Oriental Institute

Aaron Butts, Catholic University of America

Alberto Camplani, University of Rome La Sapienza

John-Paul Ghobrial, University of Oxford

Adrian Pirtea, University of Vienna

Nikolai Seleznyov, HSE University (Moscow)

Susan Thomas, Sree Sankaracharya University of Sanskrit in Kerala

Dorothea Weltecke, University of Frankfurt-am-Main

Submission

The series warmly welcomes volume proposals for both monographs and thematically coherent essay collections. Authors are asked to provide supporting critical editions in CTE files. Please contact the publishing manager or series directors for further information.

The series gladly accommodates publications in open access.

Main language(s) accepted: English, French – Additional languages: German, Italian

Author Information

Brepols Publishers' general guidelines in English and a proposal form for authors and editors are available at:

<http://www.brepols.net/Pages/Getfile.aspx?dfi=88>

All volumes in this series are evaluated by an Editorial Board, strictly on academic grounds, based on reports prepared by referees who have been commissioned by virtue of their specialism in the appropriate field. The Board ensures that the screening is done independently and without conflicts of interest. The definitive texts supplied by authors are also subject to review by the Board before being approved for publication.

Why Publish with Brepols?

- Authors work closely with and benefit from the expertise of the Editorial Board.
- Comprehensive peer review ensures books published with Brepols have a reputation for high-quality scholarship.
- Continuity of care - authors work with the same publishing manager throughout the publication process.
- We offer comprehensive copyediting by experienced editors with a background in Classical, Medieval or Early Modern Studies.
- All volumes published with Brepols are distributed and marketed worldwide.

BREPOLS