Sound and Space in Early Modern Valencia c. 1400–c. 1700

Tess Knighton, Eduardo Carrero Santamaría, Francesch Orts Ruiz (eds)

During the fifteenth century Valencia was transformed into an impressive urban complex which over the course of time became renowned for its highly developed ceremonial practices involving emblematic buildings and public spaces that shaped and were shaped by a wide variety of sounds: this dynamic and multifaceted relationship between sound and space created the city's identity and characterised the daily life of its inhabitants.

Tablature Europe, 1300-1750

John Griffiths, David Dolata, Philippe Vendrix (eds)

Tablature: Europe 1300-1750 offers an encyclopaedic panorama of the variety of tablatures that formed part of the Western musical mainstream until c.1750.

Tens of thousands of tablature works survive from the early modern period until c.1750. Often dismissed as eccentric and impenetrable, tablature has frequently been seen as an obstacle, and often overlooked in music history studies. One of the principal aims of this book is to break down the barriers that have hindered the general assimilation of tablature repertoires into the way we understand music of the past. Chosen from among thousands of surviving sources, this book presents a representative group of 435 tablatures selected by a team of leading international scholars to show the beauty, diversity, and practicality of the notation. For each chosen work, a facsimile shows the original notation and is accompanied by a modern transcription and commentary to demystify music that has too frequently been regarded as obscure or enigmatic.

Including tablature works on the following instruments: Angélique, Bandora and Orpharion, Bandurria, Baryton, Calichon, Cimbalom, Citrinen, Cittern, Guitar, Harp, Hunting horn, Keyboard, Lira, Lirone, Lute, Mandolino, Mandore, Musette, Recorder and Flageolet, Sordellina and Buttafuoco, Theorbo, Tromba marina, Trumpet, Vihuela, Viola da gamba and Lyra viol, Violin, Voice.
